Students should pay the full cost for their own study, because university education benefits individuals rather than society. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

Some people _____(อ้างว่า) that students should _____(เต็ม) pay their tuition fees, _____(ในขณะที่) others _____(พิจารณาว่า) that _____(ส่วนหนึ่งของรายจ่าย) should be covered _____(เพราะว่า) _____(เด็กจบใหม่) will _____(สุดท้ายแล้ว) make contributions to the society _____(ไม่ทางใดก็ทางหนึ่ง). I agree with the latter argument and my reasons will be _____(วิเคราะห์) in this essay.

To begin with, it _____(อาจจะดูมีเหตุผล) for some to believe that students _____(ไม่ควรจะมีภาระที่ต้องจ่าย) their full cost of study. _____(อาจจะเป็นเพราะว่า) they see that _____(เมื่อ) these students graduate from university, society can _____(ได้รับผลประโยชน์) from them. Take medical students, for example; _____(หลังจากที่เรียนหนักมา 6 ปี), _____(ส่วนใหญ่มีแนวโน้มที่จะทำงาน) in public hospitals _____(ขยายสถานที่) they could help _____(จำนวนเยอะ) people throughout their medical career. _____(จากมุมมองนี้), it is logical why some would encourage financial support for college students.

_____ (อย่างไรก็ตาม), I personally _____ (ยอมรับว่า

_____ (อย่างเต็มส่วน) by each student
_____ (โดยไม่สนว่า) their majors.

In conclusion, _____(ถึงแม้จะมีการมองว่า) that some graduates could potentially make great contributions to society, _____(ฉันมีความเห็นว่า) that universities should fully charge every student _____(เพราะว่า) _____(คนในยุคปัจจุบัน) are becoming increasingly _____(สนใจผลประโยชน์ของตัวเอง - adj.).

Some people claim that students should fully pay their tuition fees, whereas others consider that a portion of the cost should be covered as new graduates will eventually make contributions to the society. I agree with the latter argument and my reasons will be analyzed in this essay.

To begin with, it might seem reasonable for some to believe that students should not carry the burden of paying their full cost of study. This is possibly because they see that once these students graduate from university, society can reap great benefits from them. Take medical students, for example; after spending six years laboriously studying, most of them tend to work in public hospitals where they could help a countless amount of people throughout their medical career. From this perspective, it is logical why some would encourage financial support for college students.

However, I personally admit that in this day and age most individuals pursue their study for their own benefit, so it should be their responsibility to pay for their study with any external support. To give a clear example, although some might perceive that doctors work for the utmost benefit of the community, in reality, many of them chose this profession for their financial gain, as witnessed in the growth of private hospitals and clinics around the country. Therefore, it would be fairer if the tuition fees are covered in its entirety by each student regardless of their majors.

In conclusion, despite the fact that some occupations could potentially make great contributions to society, I am of the opinion that each of them should fully take care of their tuition fees since people in today's world are becoming increasingly self-driven.
