Islip town centre: planned development

The provided maps illustrate the transformation of a town named Islip currently and its future development.

Overall, various alterations can be noticed, including the extension of a dual carriageway, and the construction of a bus station, and a car park. Interestingly, the main road will be used exclusively for pedestrians.

Focus on the northern part of the maps, whereas a dual carriageway will be constructed to replace the countryside located in the northernmost part, the shops below it will be dismantled and replaced 3 new buildings: a bus station, a shopping center, and a car park. Surprisingly, although the main road will be reserved for pedestrians only, the shops beneath it are expected to remain unchanged.

With regard to the southern section, similar to the opposite side, there will be a new carriageway in order to connect different locations, such as the park, and the school.

Ultimately, despite the increasing number of residential areas, the school is expected to stay untouched.
